

My Friend Sir David Frost Dies

David we will miss you and your irreverence to authority. Story by Desire' Dubounet

I was shocked to hear of my friend David Frost's death yesterday (9-1-2013). His "That was the Week That Was" was a champion of parody and satire. His interview of Richard Nixon was made famous by Ron Howard's movie. When David Frost asked me to star in and produce a satire movie on the music industry, I jumped at the chance to help my friend. David asked me to help a young writer director James Abadi to do this satire. I punched up the script and I produced the movie. This is a satire on the movie industry and a social commentary on society was fun to shoot and edit. This movie is rated age 16 parents' consent. It is an English movie with English stars and English style.

William Wallace coined the word fuck as an acronym for Fornication Under Control of the King. As you see in the movie "Brave Heart" the king ordered the first sex of marriage to be under his control. What an insult of tyranny!!!! The word fuck does not appear in the bible. It only became religious when the KING (Henry the 8th) made his own religion so he could kill his wives. This was not allowed in the other religion. Then fuck became a word that insulted the kin's religion. This absurdity is part of the satire of the movie and a parody of the hype and corruption in the music industry .

As a tribute to Sir David Frost's passing I offer to see the movie on You Tube. We won the Baltic Movie festival 2009 people's award best film. And yes all of the music is original and made by me and my real rock and roll group Desi and the Hunzz.

The Story of ****

<http://fornicationundercontrolofking.blog.com/> for the true history of the word fuck.

Because of the rights of Fornication Under Control of the King, William Walaces' wife is killed. This Ultimate Insult starts his fight of Freedom, when do you ?

Aye, fight and you may die, run, and you'll live... at least a while. And dying in your beds many years from now, would you be willin' to trade ALL the days, from this day to that, for one chance, just one chance, to come back here and tell our enemies that they may take our wives, but they'll never take... OUR FREEDOM!
