The Only 'A' I ever got for Spelling was for Originality

Originality in Spelling for effect is a sign of Intellect
Waz up with the people that feel the need to tell you that you have spelled something wrong or they don't like your grammer? Do these people have nuthin better to do? Does it make them feel better? Do they want to be annoying? Someone made the huggunous mistake of misspelling ‘Hors d'oeuvre’ and that became the topic of discussion. A small savory dish of discussion, that was served as an appetizer of debate and dialog, was turned into a dislodged discourse.

While grammar and correct spelling are both close to my heart, I try to refrain from correcting adults in public (or private, for that matter).

It just makes one look like a petty, pedantic asshole who needs to feel superior -- and there is really nothing attractive or pleasant about that.

I have noticed that many users see themselves as spelling enforcers on discussion forums. Spelling police and grammar gurus seem to troll for an opportunity to humiliate another user. Perhaps some gain a sense of superiority by showing other online users that they can spell simple words.

Language is a way to communicate an idea, if someone doesn't use proper grammar, English, or spelling yet they communicate their idea clearly enough for someone to understand it is it really necessary to nit pick the little things?

People use spelling and grammar to judge a persons intelligence yet language is a very flexible and fluid thing, using something as petty as spelling and grammar to judge a persons intelligence is just as prejudice as using someones color of skin, religion or sports team preference.

So if your a grammar or spelling nazi just get over it and find something else to be OCD about.

I posted this before but here again:

Arocdnicg to rsceearch at Cmabrigde Uinervtisy, it deosn't mtttaer in waht oredr the ltteers in a wrod are, the olny iprmoatnt tihng is taht the frist and lsat ltteer are in the rghit pcale. The rset can be a toatl mses and you can sitll raed it wouthit pobelrm. Tihs is buseace the huamn mnid deos not raed ervey lteter by istlef, but the wrod as a wlohe.

I'll just leave this here. Clearly spelling is pointless. Okay, not pointless but the way the mind works how you can explain and say that we need grammar and spelling when you can read that sentence above perfectly.

i carry your heart with me(i carry it in my heart)i am never without it(anywhere
i go you go,my dear;and whatever is done
by only me is your doing,my darling)

i fear

no fate(for you are my fate,my sweet)i want
no world(for beautiful you are my world,my true)
and it’s you are whatever a moon has always meant
and whatever a sun will always sing is you

here is the deepest secret nobody knows (here is the root of the root and the bud of the bud
and the sky of the sky of a tree called life;which grows higher than soul can hope or mind can hide)
and this is the wonder that’s keeping the stars apart

i carry your heart(i carry it in my heart)
